After makeover, two-centuries-old barn will return as new home

A 200-year-old barn at Bean's Corner in East Bethel is coming down.

But the old structure is not falling victim to the wrecking ball. Instead, the building is being disassembled piece-bypiece, headed for its next life as a house near Bethel Vil-

The location of the barn door, on the side of the structure, distinguishes it from the later New near the joints by the carpen-England-style barns, which have the door on the gable end, Bennett said.

Scott Campbell and his crew from Maine Mountain Post and Beam of Brownfield have purchased the barn itself. They will re-assemble it, using as much of the original timbers and boards as possible, in the Sunset Hill subdivision.

Although the process is one that has gained popularity in recent years, it's not new.

"We're doing something that has been done over the past couple of hundred years," said Campbell. "The old Yankees used to take them apart and move them with teams of Bennett confirms that moving whole structures, or at least recycling their parts, was commonplace.

"The oldest houses in this area all have reused timbers," The barn, located on properhe said. "They were all cut by ty owned by Nina Mollicone, hand, so it was easier to re-use them.' The Bethel barn is scribe-rule timber frame construction, Campbell said.

That means pieces were joined accord-SCOTT CAMPBELL ing to matching marks carved

"I might be able to put it back together again just from the scribe marks," said Camp-

But he doesn't risk it. "We take the boards off, and tag everything. It's like a big jigsaw puzzle," he said.

For pieces that have deteriorated to the point they can't be used, Campbell tries to replace them with similar pieces from other old structures.

Contrary to at least one published news story, there has been no break in the deadlock that has kept Maine and New trails in the other state unless they were willing to register their sleds there.

Until three years ago there was registration reciprocity between the two states when it came to snowmobiles, much as there is with automobiles. Register in either state, and you could also ride in the

But that reciprocity ended when Maine snowmobile officials became convinced New Hampshire riders were not pulling their weight financially when it came to the cost of maintaining the trails.

The lack of reciprocity meant that snowmobilers had to pay to register in both states if they wanted to ride in both — even if the distance they would be traveling in the other state was short.

Since several trails along the two states' border meander Hampshire snowmobilers off across the border, that meant some popular loop rides were truncated.

In the Bethel area one such 70-mile loop — from Bethel to Songo and Crocker ponds, Evergreen Valley, Deer Hill, Route 113, Gilead, then back to Bethel — was closed to riders registered only in Maine, because approximately two miles of the ride is across the New Hampshire line.

Snowmobile officials from both states have been meeting in an attempt to find a mutually acceptable solution to the situation, and over the past weekend an Associated Press story reported that a limited agreement had been reached covering specific trails in the Andover voters at Saturday's Town Meeting looked more kindly on two articles they defeated last year, saying yes to funds for a revaluation and to insurance coverage for two part-time employees.

Will it be Gilead's final Saturday evening meeting?

By ALISON ALOISIO

This year's Gilead Town Meeting will take place the night before Easter. And that coincidence of calendar has prompted an article to change the meeting, starting next year, to a Monday night.

The traditional Saturday night meeting came about

"years ago, because everyone worked late and couldn't come on a Monday," said Beverly Corriveau, Gilead's administrative assistant.

So a Saturday night in late March was a good choice because, she said, everyone was at home.

BYPASS QUESTIONNAIRE

To the Editor:

At the Woodstock Town Meeting on March 28 citizens will be asked to fill out a brief questionnaire on highways. One of birthday party July 8-10, 2005. the questions is: "Should we ask the state to create a bypass of Rbute 26 by Bryant Pond Village?"

The committee believes that the village has a great potential of becoming what it was years ago, back when the railroad transported everything. We see it as a quiet, peaceful place, no trucks and traffic 24/7 going around a 90-degree corner where numerous accidents have occurred. It will become attractive to tourists, and those seeking recreation or retirement homes.

We look forward to receiving the opinion of others about this. We also plan to place a similar brief questionnaire in the newspaper, to be mailed to the town office. At this time we will be looking for input from all interested citizens of the area.

DOG TOWN ANDOVER

To the Editor:

What does one get for a return for the taxes paid in Andover? It certainly is not a dog ordinance that was voted on in years

Maybe we are the only ones that have a problem with dogs coming on to the patio and wetting during the night and early morning hours or in the yard where our licensed spayed dog is fenced in.

We have built a gate to the patio to keep the dog(s) off, because we cannot convince anyone to take responsibility of taking care of the issue from the Town Office. They tell us to sign a complaint, which has been done two or three times and it goes no further due to a dog officer not being certified to go to court.

This has gone on for two years; others have told us that they are going to put out "bait" to take care of the problems. One can drive the streets at any time of day or night and have to dodge the dogs that roam freely. Our town report states $2,243 was spent on animal control for 2004. Who received this amount and for what? Are we the only ones that complain why nothing is done?

Why vote on anything in Andover if one is not forced to go by Joe and Le Myshrall Andover

TRADITIONAL ACCESS AT RISK

To the Editor:

This is written in response to a "dangerous precedent" raised in a previous letter about the Chase Road. In this case, the precedent is one of road establishment. In 1819, Bethel voters created the Chase Road. In 2005, Bethel voters will be asked once again to create the Chase Road. They will be asked to reestablish a way that the public has used since at least the

If the people of Bethel do not agree to resurrect this road, they will be losing traditional access that has never been restricted to anyone. For those of you who have used this road in the past and present for recreation and necessity, access will be closed to the public forever.

This is not a case of the town taking anything from Mr. Oakes, but a case of Mr. Oakes taking from the people of Bethel. There are a number of year-round residents living off the Chase/Taylor Smith Road who work in the Bethel area. These people need this access for their livelihoods at all times of the

On the other hand, Mr. Oakes does not live here year-round. While he is a Bethel taxpayer, good neighbor, and friend, his risits to Bethel have been infrequent. We respectfully disagree with his position. We also feel it is unfortunate that he feels that the Chase Road has become his personal driveway.

Please vote to keep traditional access open to all townspeople and visitors. Thank you.

For the past five years, students from Telstar Regional High School have played a huge part in the success of this "holiday" for CPS students. Each year, over 30 students have come to CPA to read aloud in the classrooms, sharing everything from Dr. Seuss books to "Aesop's Fables" to "The Phantom Tollbooth." It is a win-win situation: the younger students look up to these positive role models, and the high school students feel a sense of satisfaction and joy in sharing with the younger

BIG BASH FOR NEWRY BICENTENNIAL

To the Editor:

Fireworks, a parade, an ice cream social, vendor fair and more are planned for Newry's 200th

The celebration will begin Friday, July 8, at 6 p.m. with a kick-off ceremony at the Covered Bridge followed by an ice cream social at the Sunday River Inn. Horse-drawn rides will be available from the bridge back to the inn. The Sunday River School house will also be open that evening from 5 to 6 p.m. for tours.

Saturday's festivities will start at 11 a.m. with a parade from the Saddle Ridge Road to the Grange Hall. Parade walkers, costumed participants, horse riders and old cars, tractors, machinery, etc. are needed along with floats from families, neighborhoods, local groups and businesses. Contact the town office to sign up.

The daylong festivities at the Grange Hall will include vendor booths, food, educational programs and entertainment. The Newry Fire Department will also offer lunch for sale. The Newry postmaster will be on hand with a special commemorative cancellation stamp. Postcards created for the event will also be on sale.

The evening's entertainment at the Grange Hall will be the "Wicked Good Band," masters of Maine musical satire, and humorist Joe Perham of West Paris. Fireworks will follow the entertainment. No admission will be charged for any of the events sponsored by the celebration committee.

Crafters and artisans from Newry and surrounding towns are welcome to sign up for free table space at the celebration. Groups and organizations from Newry or surrounding towns that would like to have a fundraising booth or activity should contact the Town Office for more information. The committee is currently looking for a Newry group to sponsor a bean supper for other jobs, taking with Saturday night, July 9. If by May 1 there is no Newry group interested in sponsoring the supthem municipal certification per. the opportunity will be offered to any group from the surrounding towns or possibly a local business or catering service.

A "button raffle" is also being held. Numbered souvenir raffle pins are available for $2 each at After the insurance was the Town Office. POLAK SEEKS RE-ELECTION

To the Editor:

I wish to announce that I will run for one more term as SAD44 School Board Director from the Town of Woodstock.

During my 12-plus years of service as a school board director I have committed my energy and leadership to providing the best possible education for all of our students and balancing the financial needs of Woodstock and other district taxpayers.

As chair of the Education Committee I have worked with staff, other directors and Dr. Murphy to develop and approve integrated curriculum for all subject areas. This is being done to satisfy the requirements of Maine Learning Results and the No Child Left Behind Act, and more importantly because it will significantly improve students' learning. The first curriculum, Health and Physical Education, has recently been reviewed and approved by the Board of Directors. In addition to curriculum development, the Education Committee is working with the recently hired curriculum cordinator, Ms. Lee Graham, on assessment tools. We need to measure and judge the effectiveness of our teaching and curriculum and answer a fundamental question: What are our students learning?

I continue to work with other directors and Dr. Murphy to implement needed changes in the school district without adding costs to the taxpayers. For example, the costs for new administrative positions like the curriculum coordinator and new principals have come from within the current budget. All of the individual schools in SAD44, including the middle school, now have highly capable administrators. Jolene Littlehale is now the teaching principal at Woodstock Elementary School. I believe that excellent schools have both effective administrators and teaching staff

Another way I am working with the Board of Directors and the administration to save taxpayer money is through partnerships with other school districts such as Dixfield and SAD17. I will continue supporting leveraging the spending power of multiple school districts by sharing

I strongly believe that providing the best education possible for our students is the key to the future health of our town, state and nation. Regardless of the professions our children choose, they will need to be lifelong learners and have diverse skills in order to stay competitive locally, Bethelnationally, and globally,

I would appreciate your vote at the Woodstock Town Meeting on Monday, March 28, at 7 p.m. Marcel Polak SAD44 School Director, Woodstock

NOMINATIONS FOR CHAMBER AWARDS

To the Editor:

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce is pleased to have the opportunity each year to recognize deserving community servants, a Bethel area business that has made significant strides in the past year, a Forest Products Industry entrepreneur, and a few excellent employees who have made extraordinary contributions to their workplaces.

On Friday, May 13, the 36th annual Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce Awards Dinner will be held at the Grand Summit Hotel at Sunday River Ski Resort. It is at this gala evening that we will be presenting the following awards: The Henry H. Hastings Award for Citizenship, the Lifetime Achievement Award, the Business of the Year Award, the Forest Products Industry Award, the Public Service Award (for municipal employees/volunteers), and four Employee of the Year Awards (for Hospitality, Retail/Service, Education, and Ski Industry.) The chamber is accepting nominations for any of these awards, but they must be submitted to the chamber office by Friday, April 1. You may send them to Awards, P.O. Box 1247, Bethel, ME 04217.

All are welcomed to attend the Awards Dinner. The cost is $30 per person for a complete buffet dinner, from "appetizer to dessert." Tables of eight are available for groups. Call the chamber office at 824-2282 for reservations or information. Many thanks to our sponsors of the evening, W.J. Wheeler & Co., Inc., Oxford Networks and Sunday River Ski Resort.

TAPESTRY PROJECT FUNDRAISER

To the Editor:

An entertaining educational evening is being held April 14 to fundraise and introduce The Western Maine Girls Association's new program, the Tapestry project.

The Tapestry project is a program designed for middle-school girls that will combine physical activities, art, and discussion.

The activities planned for the April 14 evening include: watching "Killing Us Softly," a documentary on advertising's influence on girls and women. This film was generously donated by Scott and Jenna of Stone Mountain Mortgage and is an important film to see for anyone who has a daughter or works with youth. A short discussion will follow the film on how to counter these images. We will then be treated to a dance by Debi Irons of Arts Moves. The evening will be capped off with dessert and a silent auction. Some of the incredible offerings at the silent auction include: a handmade book by Sarah Shepley, a massage by Janet Wiley, pen pals, an annual exam from New Moon Midwives. The evening is designed for older teens (16-plus), as the movie

Hope Peterson said later that is not appropriate for younger children. Events will take place in the Telstar auditorium, beginning at 7 p.m. The Western Maine Girls Association's mission is to promote programs for girls that enhance self worth, nurture connectedness, foster community and respond to the needs of growing girls of all ages. Our other programs include the Girls on the Run program, a running program for third-fifth-grade girls that will be in six different elementary schools throughout Oxford and Androscoggin counties this spring.

Lidah Iles favored a revaluation. "We're going to have to do it sooner or later," she said. "We need to bite the bullet and do it.'

The vote was 24-13.

Voters also approved paying health insurance premiums for two part-time employees, raising the overall cost of employee health insurance to $35,000, from the current $23,500.

Selectman Gerry Savitch Jr. said the town needs to "invest in its employees and appreciate what they do on a day-to-. day basis."

If that doesn't happen, he said, the employees may leave training the town has paid

Voters approved $6,000 for Recreational Capital Improvement Fund. The committee had requested $9,000.

The funds were intended for improvements to the Grimaldi property, including the construction of an additional baseball field, according to Sid Pew, a committee member.

But some townspeople said there are often not enough youngsters to make up the town's baseball teams. Others said they would rather see money spent to improve existing facilities, such as the ball field and tennis courts in the center of town.

Another recreation article, one that funds the town's annual membership in the Greater Rumford Community Center, was reduced to $1,000 from the recommended $2,000.

There were funds left over in the account from last year, and some voters saw no reason to raise the full $2,000.

Voters also approved the appropriation of $11,890 in matching funds for a $118,000 FEMA grant for technical rescue equipment and the training to use it.

But some also expressed their displeasure that about half the grant, received last year, had been spent before voters had the chance to decide if they wanted to raise the matching funds.

One asked what would happen if the town did not raise the money.

Selectmen said they did not know. Craig Zurhorst said he believed Andover would be responsible for 10 percent of the funds already spent, and would have to return the rest of the money.

Said Akers, "I think we would be foolish not to approve it, but in the future I'd like to see things done differently."

Fire Chief Ken Dixon said he took full responsibility for the handling of the grant, but said he had spoken with selectmen before spending about $60,000 of it.

Akers was the only select-Executive Director, Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce man in office at the time the grant was received. She said she did not recall the conversation with Dixon, but that it could have taken place.

Dixon said the rescue equipment and training would be particularly valuable when the AFD is called out for rescues along the nearby Appalachian Trail. Some voters said they want-

Owl volunteers needed

BETHEL - Maine Audubon seeks volunteers to conduct early morning owl surveys in the Bethel, Rangeley, Bridgton and Fryeburg areas for the Maine Owl Monitoring Project. These "citizen scientist" volunteers will receive a cassette tape and written training material to learn the nine possible owl species they may hear during the surveys, which run from midnight to 4 a.m. Each volunteer is assigned an established road route and on any night between now and April 10 will conduct a 13-minute survey at each of 10 points along the route. For the first two minutes, volunteers listen quietly for calling owls. They then use a cassette tape player to play calls of Maine's three most common owls (greathorned, barred and northern saw-whet), waiting between each call in order to note any responses. Citizen scientists then log information about the survey, including weather conditions, temperature and owls heard, on a data sheet they send to project coordinator Susan Gallo of Maine Audubon. Gallo notes that she is always surprised by how many volunteers want to venture out in the early spring morning to listen for owls. More than 200 individuals have volunteered for the project since it began in 2002. "It is a beautiful time to be out, even if your eyes are bleary and your feet are freezing," said Gallo. "And it is such a treat to hear an owl call back to you. To hear that eerie call from the darkness and know you are doing something good for wildlife is a double reward." At 2:20 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White assisted Bethel Rescue with a call at a village location.

Wednesday, March 16

At 6:05 a.m. Officer Donald McCormick stopped a charter bus on Route 26 at the request of a Paris police officer. The driver was informed the Paris officer needed a statement regarding a complaint the bus had passed a stopped school bus.

At 12:24 p.m. Officer Phil Taylor responded to a twovehicle accident with personal injury at the intersection of Route 2 and the Parkway. A car at the stop sign on Parkway pulled out in front of an eastbound car and the two vehicles collided. The driver of the first vehicle was transported to the hospital by Bethel Rescue.

Tuesday, March 15

At 9:45 a.m. Sgt. S.R. White summonsed Joshua P. Gagnon, 29, for possession of a suspended license.

At 1:45 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White and Officer Phil Taylor arrested Joseph T. Vedella, 51, on a warrant for failure to pay fines.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summon in the 10 days prior to the newspaper's publication, but does not include all reports of other police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

a Route 26 bypass around Bryant Pond Village. .The bypass idea has been proposed to MDOT by Norm Putnam. chairman of the Planning Board and the Comprehensive Plan Committee. It calls for the bypass to leave the current road near the top of Merrifield Hill and return spring. Voters will also decide whether to spend $13,000 for a road sweeper and $7,500 for a hay chopper/blower for the Highway Department.

just north of the roadside

The town had been renting a sweeper at a cost of between $2,000 and $3,000 a year, according to Town Manager Vern Maxfield, so the town would save on the rental

The hay chopper/blower is proposed, he said, because state law requires that the site of any ditching operations be hayed within two days.

The highway crew had been working with a borrowed chopper, he said.

Discontinued roads An article that was approved last year will return for ratification this year.

In 2004, voters approved an agreement with Warren

Hillquist to discontinue an unimproved town road that runs across his property, off the Ricker Road,

In return Hillquist agreed to give Woodstock the fee to the road area (property interest), on the condition that if at some future date he or his heirs or assigns wished to have the road reinstated, the town would do so.

But, said Maxfield, selectmen believe voters thought at the time the agreement meant the question of reinstatement would again come to a Town Meeting vote.

That is not the case, he said.

So the board decided to bring the issue back before residents this year.

Townspeople will also vote on whether to raise $2,000 to start a fund to research titles on discontinued roads.

Maxfield said the proposal was prompted generally by the effects of development in town, and particularly by questions raised in connection with property around Buck's and Lapham ledges.

Employee insurance

With employee health insurance premiums going up, selectmen are proposing that the town pay 90 percent of dependent premiums instead of the current 100 percent. If the article is approved, Woodstock would continue to pay 100 percent of the employee's own premium.

The town recently changed its policy from Anthem to Aetna to save money, Maxfield said. The move saves the town $300 a month in premium payments, he said.

In elections for municipal offices, selectman Steve Bies' term is up for a vote. He is expected to run again. Bruce Korhonen is also expected to be a candidate, Maxfield said. School director Marcel Polak and library trustee Frank Campbell are both expected to run for re-election, and Maxfield said he does not know of anyone else seeking the positions.

munity Lakes Association, the Bethel Library Association or Community Concepts.

Last year voters allocated $300, $800 and $1,000 respectively for these three organizations, and smaller amounts were allocated for several other health and services organizations that do not appear on this year's warrant. The warrant does include a catch-all health and services line of $1,500. That money, if approved by voters, could be allocated by selectmen to various organizations, including the Lakes Association and Community Concepts, according to Town Manager Kim Sparks.

In addition, the wording of the Town Meeting warrant is such that individual voters can motion to add items and amounts.

Should such a motion be approved, the allocation would be added to the year's budget.

One service that is becoming more expensive is Tri-Town Ambulance Service. Last year the town allocated $6,416 for Tri-Town; this year voters are being asked for $9,624. The figure is based on population, Sparks said. Other increases on Saturday's warrant include the higher stipends for Fire Department officers, and members of the Appeals and Assessment Review boards.

In addition, a change is proposed in the way selectmen are compensated for their time. Currently they are paid $10 an hour for the time they spend on the job. Under the new proposal they would be paid a flat fee of $100 per month.

To help hold taxes steady, selectmen this year are asking voters to take $108,000 from Undesignated Fund Balance. Last year $285,000 was taken.

If voters approve the municipal budget as proposed, Sparks said, and projections for county and school taxes prove accurate, the property-tax rate is expected to stay steady, at $17.50 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation.

Barking, road signs Voters will also be asked

Saturday to approve two ordinances. Of the two, the one more likely to generate discussion is a Barking Dog Ordinance. It prohibits anyone from allowing their dog to "annoy or disturb any person by continued, repeated barking or other loud or unusual noises."

The ordinance authorizes the animal control officer, upon receipt of a written complaint, to first warn the owner, then, if the violation persists, to cite them for a civil violation that carries a fine of $25 for the first offense and $50 each for subsequent violations.

Animal Control Officer Ozzie Hart said that of the six towns for which he fills that role, only Greenwood and Hanover do not have such an ordinance.

He said in the past year he received six or seven barking complaints in Greenwood, but without a formal ordinance "there's really nothing I can do."

He said the proposed Greenwood ordinance is nearly identical in wording to those in the other towns he serves.

Sparks said she has heard from some dog owners concerned that there was no time limit in the ordinance, so a owner could be warned or fined when their dog barked for just a few minutes.

The second ordinance up for discussion Saturday is a town Traffic Ordinance, which deals largely with signs.

Sparks said that until such an ordinance is formally adopted by town voters, traffic signs and postings on town roads are essentially unenforceable in court.

Saturday's meeting will be held in the Town Hall and will begin at 10 a.m.

Two terms are open on the Board of Selectmen, one for three years, the other for one. Incumbent Wayne Hakala is expected to seek re-election, and former Selectman Herb Dunham and current Planning Board alternate Loretta Mikols are also expected to run, Sparks said.

into office. Currently, they are elected at Town Meeting. But an article proposes to make the positions appointed by select-Corriveau said such a move would give the people holding the positions more security. But, she said, they could only be removed by the board for clearly stated reasons.

School costs Gilead's contribution to its 2005 school budget is set at $189,567. The new school funding formula benefits the town this year, said SAD44 Superintendent Dave Murphy, and Gilead will not have to raise any additional local funds.

Murphy said he anticipates next year Gilead's share for tuitioning students to SAD44 will return to a level similar to past years.

The town also has a significant amount of carryover money that may be applied to future budgets, he said.

A tuition town, Gilead's costs can vary greatly from vear to year depending on its number of students, so it is difficult to compare annual budgets, he said.

A late article added to the warrant asks townspeople to approve $2,600 to finish paying off a sander, and a small amount of funds (figure not available) for the construction of a salt shed at the transfer station site.

Corriveau said the money is already available in the Municipal Building and Highway Account. The salt shed project only needs funds for a foundation.

If all articles are approved, the municipal budget would rise about 5.4 percent, and have little impact on the mil rate, Corriveau said.

In municipal elections, selectman Fernand Corriveau's seat is up for a vote. and he will again seek the three-year position, Beverly Corriveau said.

She said she did not know of anyone else running.

On the School Committee, Donna Taylor's term is up.

The meeting begins at 7 p.m. in the Town Hall.

After replacements and repairs are done, the barn is re-assembled. "My goal is that you don't know I was there," he said.

The East Bethel barn was in pretty good shape, he said, but "the roof was starting to leak, and the foundation was starting to fail."

He won't try to move or reproduce the stone foundation. Instead, the barn/house will be placed on a concrete

Campbell said it typically takes two to three weeks to take a barn apart, another two weeks to repair parts, and about a week to re-assem-

In this case, the re-assembly will happen in June.

"Ideally, we'll put it back together and it'll be up for another 200 years," he said.

But he also makes a habit of carving into the frame information about the barn's original site, and when it was moved, "just in case someone moves it again," he said.

Campbell said he began taking down old barns and houses about 15 years ago. When he was growing up in Pennsylvania, he said, his family restored an old timber frame

"Most people who restore barns remember being in a barn when they were kids," he said.

He first became a carpenter, worked at that for about 15 years, then, about six years ago, began restoring the old structures.

Since then, he said, "I've done about 12 frames — some barns, some houses and some serve history. ell frames.

A MAP TO BUILD A BARN BY—Carpenters who built the barn at Bean's Corner 200 years ago inscribed marks on the timbers to indicate which ones needed to be joined to each other. But that report was inaccurate — or at least premature -according to several officials contacted by The Citizen.

A proposal for such an arrangement has been approved by the board of the Maine Snowmobile Association, according to Scott Ramsey, director of the Off-Road Vehicle Division of the Maine Department of Conservation, but further discussions will be needed before this, or any alternative, proposal is formally adopted. With the upcoming weekend likely to be the last for most snowmobilers here, that means there will be no reciprocity this season.

On a brighter note, Ramsey said that if the MSA proposal does take effect over the offseason, the two-mile, Evans Notch stretch of the local 70mile loop trail will be open

March lamb to arrive, and we've certainly had a stretch of glorious weather. The snow is noticeably receding. The spring skiing is fabulous, both on the mountain and on the x-c trails. Is everybody happy? Until a few years ago, the tufted titmouse was a stranger to these parts, but we've had two or three regulars at our feeders this winter. And in yet another sign of spring, my husband has heard their "Peter! Peter!" call in the woods.

Last Saturday, I saw John Applin standing at the side of the Grover Hill Road. Turns out he had been watching an otter playing on the ice in the marsh. Otters are nature's playboys and jokesters, and they're really amusing as they cavort around.

Also on Saturday, the 20th annual Maine Handicapped Ski-a-thon took place at Sunday River and Sunday River Inn. I was there at the inn, as was the whole List family - Eric, Chris Trefethen, Eliot, and Sophie. A few of us volunteers did a 6 km loop which took us up to and across the downhill trails at South Ridge, Barker, and Whitecap, then through the woods back to the inn, Eric, Chris, and Eliot all competed in the sit-ski race; and later Chris and Sophie were in the Crazy Relay. A good time was had by all, and the corn snow was fast and fun.

Lin Chapman I am writing this on Sunday, the first day of spring.

The weather

great. The snow is melting and the snowbanks are getting lower. I can actually see out of my windows now.

My four-year-old grandson, William, looked out of my living room window at all the snow the other day, and asked me if my flower garden was still out there. I assured him it was and before long he would be playing out there by the little pond.

I was watching the birds at the feeder this weekend and noticed a couple of starlings, a good sign of spring.

I talked to my brother, Steve McLain, today. He attended the Rotary Club breakfast at Gould Academy. His son, Brad McLain, and wife, Adrienne, went also. Steve also told me that Brad had stopped by to be read in their entirety. shovel off the roof again.

Montana.

It seemed good to get in a full week of work at school. There were no storms this week to cause any school cancellations.

I just want to remind everyone that Saturday, March 26, will be a busy day at the Town Hall. The Gilead Historical Society will meet at 2 p.m. and the annual Town Meeting will be at 7 p.m.

The Planning Board Over the next few months the Planning Board will be conducting a series of Public Hearings to obtain public input on several draft ordinances. This input will be used to modify these drafts prior to going before the town for approval. The first of these Public Hearings is scheduled for Thursday, April 7, at the Town Hall and will commence at 7 p.m. Draft ordinances to be discussed include; Planning

We must have gotten a foot or more of snow this last storm. The snowbanks are really high.

On Monday, Albert and I went to the Stephens Memorial Hospital to see his cousin, Ruth Dingley. She is a patient there. She was feeling better than the day before. We hope she continues to get Frances Grant has not felt well this past week, but is feeling a bit better now. In fact, she and I went to Fryeburg on business lately. My goodness what a terrible, awful, rough and bumpy road from here to Fryeburg. We bounced all the way there and back, and we went slow, too. We were both glad to get home and to rest.

A Maundy Thursday supper will be held on Thursday, March 24, at 6 p.m. at the North Waterford Church vestry. The Rev. George Frobig will open the North Waterford Church at noon and 1 and 2 p.m. Good Friday for silent prayer.

Easter Sunday, March 27, Sunrise Service will be held at 5:30 a.m. at Keoka Beach in Waterford. Easter breakfast will follow at the Wilkins

We escaped to Florida after my recent illness. The "Auto Train" out of Lorton, Va., was much better this year. I was not hoisted to the top bunk but slept (?) on a lower one. The food and the service was wonderful.

The effects of last year's hurricane were visible in most of the Southland. Florida is recovering but is showing visible scars.

We missed our first Town Meeting in thirty-one years, but we were kept informed by Sue Nelson. Wendy Hanscom did a fine job as our moderator. Jim Rector was elected treasurer, tax collector and town clerk, replacing Walter Stanczyc who retired this year. Paul Casey was elected selectman, replacing Richard LeComte, who also retired after serving thirty-plus years. Jennifer Casey was re-elected to the School Board.

While you were experiencing snow up north, we were blessed with heavy rain. There were some beach days, but I believe those days are reserved for April.

Last Saturday, Mona and I were lucky enough to be ing on her way to work last included in a tour of the Barbara Bush Children's Hospital in Maine Medical Center with a group of department (state) level American Legion and Legion Auxiliary members. The Maine American Legion has made the Children's Mir-We almost got into a car acle Network of Maine the accident Saturday coming recipient of some of its fundraising for the past several years. On Saturday, Ms. Elliot Pitts, of the Children's Miracle Network, which is closely associated with the Barbara Bush Hospital wing, led our group through the hospital.

The Barbara Bush Children's Hospital is actually separated into three separate areas within the Maine Medical Center. There is a children's trauma center within the emergency section of the hospital, a neoing about how the roads have natal center that cares for gotten torn and heaved up. newborns, including premature babies, and the children's ward containing the hospital rooms for children other than newborns.

The staff and sponsors of the children's hospital have made numerous adjustments to both the environment and procedures for handling children's maladies in the effort to minimize the trauma for kids facing strangers and scary procedures in a strange place. For kids staying in rooms in the children's ward, there are separate treatment rooms, where all the scary and "owwy" things (shots, exams, prodding and probing) are done. This way, the kids' rooms are "safe" from the "bad stuff." No shots or scary exams happen in the rooms. Further, the beds in the treatment/exam rooms face away from all the scary dials, tubes and "medical stuff" so the

There is a large playroom filled with toys and a larger atrium room where the sun shines in, and kids are allowed to bring blankets and "stuff" to play or nap in the sun.

There is even a teen playroom with fooz ball, air hockey and other attractions for the older kids.

The Bush center also has a specialized "transport" vehicle on call that comes complete with specially trained medical staff (actually a modified ambulance) that is used to transport newborns with medical emergencies from other hospitals to the Barbara Bush Center. This unique vehicle and its trained doctors and nurses have proven very effective in successfully beginning to improve the status of severely threatened infants even before they reach the B. Bush Children's Hospital.

Overall, the tour was an eye-opener, and we were all the care and the motivation of and delicious. the staff responsible for saving our most precious citizens.

tiative recognizes that our computer programmers, architects, farmers, artisans or entrepreneurs, all possess the potential to improve their economy while caring for the qualities of their natural and social environment.

They want to establish a healthy balance between practical and aesthetic aspects of their daily lives.

In preparation for the conference, community members will be conducting surveys and interviews at local meetings and door to door.

One goal of the conference is to reach fellow community members who might not otherwise attend with a personal invitation. The information generated through these surveys and interviews will inform the format of the conference.

The April 23 program will feature a facilitated community dialogue centered on our shared sense of place and the unique opportunities that exist for economic development. Discussion will include ways to organize and fund local initiatives for creative and cultural entrepreneurship.

CPS Students were fortunate enough to have the "Cat in the Hat" drop in to help them celebrate books, reading and the birthday of his creator, Dr. Seuss. Dr. Judith Whitman, principal at CPS, thrilled Mrs. Decarolis' first-graders with her impersonation of the famous cat. This "Read Across America" Day at CPS was orchestrated by Betsy Raymond, School Librarian.

Students at Woodstock Elementary School collected Pennies For Patients to benefit the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society during the month of February. After three weeks of students bringing their spare change to school, the total was $600.76. "We are so proud of our students," said Jolene Littlehale, school principal and Peter Howard, school coordinator for Pennies For Patients. "They did a great job of giving selflessly and they really understood the mission of the Society and what their money is used for." The students and staff were freated to an ice cream sundae party at school in recognition of all their efforts in making the Pennies For Patients such a huge success. Hannaford Food Store in Oxford donated the Ice cream. WES second-graders Vanessa Godwin, Nina Burton, Liam Gallagher and Nathan Bradman with the pennies gathered for Pennies for Patients.

Mrs. Littlehale gets a whipped cream pie from James Piccirillo as an added surprise for the students raising so much money.

AES Pupil in State Bee

Adam Mahar, a pupil at the Andover Elementary School, the son of Anne Marie and Joe Mahar, is a finalist in the 2005 Maine Geographic Bee.

Bees were held in schools with fourth through eighth-grade students throughout the state to determine each school's winner. School level winners then took a qualifying test, which was submitted to the National Geographic Society. In each of the 50 states and in . the territories, the society invited pupils with the top 100 scores to compete at the state level.

The Maine bee will take place April 1 at the University of Maine.

Area Artists to Show in "The April Fools"

On Friday, April 1, from 7 to 9 PM, The Commons Art Collective of Norway, Maine will sponsor the opening reception of the month-long show "The April Fools", exhibiting the work of member artists Mary Brooking, Alan Day, and Gemma Morrill-Dreher. The three have collaborated on an exhibit of paintings, photographs and prints which reflect the mystery, the unknown, and the familiar which inhabit the world of shifting seasons. The show attempts to articulate through representational work, as well as more abstract expressions, the power that lies within relationship: with land, with sense of place, with home, with creatures, with our beloveds.

A twenty-year career in graphic design and illustration preceded Mary Brooking's present incarnation as a fine artist. She now works in 2-dimensional and 3-dimensional media, including primarily acrylic painting, drawing, paper collage, clay, and found object sculpture.

Alan Day has created images in the context of photography for over 40 years, with a special bias toward old cameras, slide (transparency) film, and natural lighting. Studying with Elaine Mayes at Hampshire College in the early 1970's brought Alan into a new relationship to both color and black-and-white media.

Gemma Morrill-Dreher grew up in New York and attended Central Missouri State University where she earned a B. S. Degree in Art Education. She moved to Maine with her family in 1973. Gemma lives in West Bethel and teaches in the Mexico and Rumford

"The April Fools" show runs through April 30th at The Commons Art Gallery at 447 Main Street in Norway (next to Fare Share Market). Gallery hours are Thursday and Friday 3 to 6 PM, Saturdays from 10 AM to 4 PM. Members of the general public are heartily invited to attend the opening reception on Friday, April 1st, and they are reminded that access to the Gallery is available through Fare Share Market during regular business hours (10 AM to 6 PM, Monday-Friday, 10-4 on Saturdays) in addition to the attended gallery hours listed above. From the

Greenwood Historical Society

The Greenwood Historical Society is planning to host a reunion this summer of all those who attended the Greenwood elementary schools. Although a date has not yet been selected, the society's Swan House will be open for tours and viewing of historical photographs of the schools and classes. Those who went to any of the Greenwood schools and wish to be kept abreast of this reunion are urged to leave their name and address for mailing purposes with society co-president, John Davis, at 743-9552 or the society's secretary, Joyce Hathaway, at 674-

Even better yet, come to the society's meetings at the Swan House on Main Street the first Wednesday of each month at 6:30 p.m. and enjoy fellowship and even a program or two. Our meetings and programs are always open to the public. guests are always welcome, and if you are not a member, do not worry, before the evening is over you jolly well may

At the March 1 meeting, Frank Perham of Greenwood kept everyone glued to their seats with a very fascinating program on local minerals and mining. Well, he did not really put glue on the seats as it was not necessary, no one wanted to miss a word of his presentation on this topic.

Some 26 members of WMSC left Garland Chapel of the Congregational Church last Tuesday walking straighter and taller. Dr. Wasowski's talk on "Six Essentials of Life" included the importance of good posture and exercise.

He stressed the need to do exercise activities that use as many muscles as possible. He led all participants in "The Morter March," an easy exercise where one moves muscles just beyond their comfort zone. Done twice a day, he said this helps "re-train" muscles and has an added at 824-0508. benefit of improved balance. It can be done as part of one's daily walking outside or can be done independently of walking. Everyone received a flyer to further explain this exercise and a second flyer on everyday stretches.

He emphasized that as we grow older, good health becomes even more important. He said the choices we make would determine whether or not we follow a lifestyle that results in permanent good health. He touched on some of the six essentials of life, namely: what you eat, what you drink, how you exercise, how you rest, and what you breathe. Time did not permit ment, "what you think," and register.

this could be an expanded topic during a return visit.

His informal and often humorous talk was well received and there were many requests for a follow-up visit.

Dr. Wasowski is well known to many in the area. He grew up in Auburn and, after attending North Western College of Chiropractics, practiced several years in Rumford before opening his own practice in Windham.

This talk was free to members of WMSC. One of the goals of WMSC for the coming year is to offer single-day programs, some without charge, in addition to extended courses. The WMSC newsletter due for distribution later this month will list spring classes and special events.

Before Buying a Home!

Where do you start when you are ready to buy a home? Before you begin looking for a home, you have to make some decisions. You need to decide what is important to you when purchasing your home. Before starting out on your home search it is a good idea to sit down and develop a list of what is Important and what would you like in your new home. Your list could include schools, heighborhood, amenities, number of bedrooms, number of baths, a basement, a separate dining room, 2-story family room or fover, one level ranch plan, master bedroom on the main level, special financing, seller willing to cover closing costs and the list goes on

An experienced buyer real estate agent can help you through the process. There is no such thing as a perfect house, therefore once you have developed your list you should begin to prioritize it, You can prioritize into, must have, should have and would be nice to have. By having a clear understanding what you want in your new home, and the priority of those items, you will be in a much better position to decide whether you want to put an offer on a house you see and like. It is also a good idea to consider whether you want to purchase a new or pre-owned home.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

YOUR YEARLY HOUSE CHECK-UP

Once a year, it's important to do some creative maintenance and general apgrading work around your house. Take a hint from the American Society of Home Inspectors, and don't put off your home's yearly check-up.

Check for broken glass or loose caulking. Homes can take a beating during summer months with families and pets creating constant traffic. Door and window frames can suffer. Also, take note of cords and plugs. Many cords and electrical outlets in a home are obscured from view, and out of sight can mean out of mind. Test all the ground-fault circuit breakers and check the condition of extension cords and plugs. Check all the filters and batteries, making sure they're clean and operating properly. Replace where needed.

Don't neglect major areas of the home, such as the exterior walls. Look for cracks in masonry and damage to trim. Check the roof for any damaged or loose shingles. Finding and repairing damage is essential to avoid leaks and water damage. Also check outside areas, such as cracks in driveways and walkways, and look for settlement and soil erosion in the yard. Be sure to fill any low spots that are close to the home's foundation to prevent basement leaks and flooding.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

A LETTER APPRECIATED BY OUR STAFF:

Hello Everyone!

Bill and I would like to thank you for all the effort you have put into selling our home.

We have never dealt with a Realty Office so committed to their clients. Everyone in your office is so professional and has answered any question or concern we have had.

It is a breath of fresh air to not hear "I don't know," followed by an uncomfortable silence.

Your advertising, as I'm sure you know, is the best in the area. We just wanted to extend our recognition of your efforts as well as the rest of the Kennett Team. Thanks Again! Sincerely, Karen & Bill Hopkins

A Winter Hiker's Thanks

I want to thank the people who, over the last 15 years, have helped me in reaching my goal of climbing, in winter, the 48 mountains in NH, over 4,000 feet. I reached my goal on 2/27/05 when I climbed the last 4 on a 23 mile Zealand/Bonds raverse led by Kevin Rooney.

I thank Melody for her continuing support and encouragement at home, and the following hikers who came with me, or I with them, on one or more of the trips:

Penny Bohac Mike Cohen Gordon Gillies Toshio Hashimoto Bob Humphrey & Friends Chris Martin Emily McKay Pete Rackliffe Kevin Rooney & Friends

Thanks, It's Been Fun, Garret Bonnema
